

When local stations offer 24/7 road reports and weather the situation will resolve itself. I believe there is no need for Federal intervention: allow the market to decide for itself. Local stations are free to offer this service at any time. No one is stopping them! Why haven't they offered this service prior to XM? As long-haul truckers, my wife and I survive on the availability of having continuous information about accidents, congestion and the weather as offered by XM. Sometimes having the instant info helps us to decide to take a particular exit, or not to. Waiting for "Traffic on the 7's" would force us to wait and we could miss the needed exit. Truckers need to know as we travel, not when the radio station decides it's time to offer a 15 second slot of info. Why not pass legislation that prohibits local stations from offering 24/7 road coverage with weather? Respectfully,
